

5.3.4

The National Sanskrit University encourages its students to publish materials like wall magazines and articles in university magazines and magazines of other institutions. Specifically The departments of English, Hindi and Telugu encourage their students to compose wall magazines. Under the guidance of the faculty members, students' contributions are compiled into various magazines. This practice enhances the quality of the students' creative writing and analytical ability. The department of Research and Publication encourages the students to write research articles in "Mahaswini", the University magazine.

List of major publications are:

1. Malini

This wall magazine in English contains poems, examination tips, word meaning from English to Sanskrit, proverbs, jokes, stories, quotations, antonyms, facts, crossword puzzles etc. and is updated weekly. This wall magazine provides a special platform to the students of English to explore their talents in knick-knacks.

2. The Dawn

This annual magazine in English provides a space for students to explore their talents by writing brain teasers, description of poets, analysis of literature, poems, essays on grammar and communicative English. This magazine has a huge welcome among the students of all programmes.

3. Abhivyakti

This wall magazine in Hindi acts as a bridge to connect the students by containing articles on proverbs, idioms and phrases, rules of grammar, translation, poetry, stories, moral sayings and paintings.

4. Srujana

This wall magazine in Telugu possesses creative writing, idioms and phrases, proverbs, paintings of poets, list of modern significant poets, word meanings from Telugu to Sanskrit and vice-versa. This magazine gives the activities of the students in a nut-shell.

5. Sahiti

Essays written on Telugu literature, Grammar, poems, analytical study of Telugu literature and other such articles are compiled into this annual magazine in Telugu.

6. Mahasvini –

This Bi-annual research journal contains research articles of the students on various Sastras. This journal acts as a great platform for the students to explore their research oriented views. Analytical skills and critical thinking of the students are enhanced by this journal and it provides a fantastic stage to showcase the unique views of the students.

7. Shikshalokah

This annual students' magazine of the Department of Education contains the articles of students on teaching methodologies, pedagogy, psychology, philosophy, research methodology in Sanskrit education, curriculum, policies and commissions on education and other branches of teacher education. Students of Siksha Sastri and Siksha Acharya utilize this magazine as a special platform to demonstrate their talents. Students are free to write in all the three methodologies adopted in teaching.